

So, What Do You Do?: How to Network and Talk About Yourself

Does networking make you think of a used car salesman? Does talking to strangers make you cringe? It doesn't have to be that way! In "So, What Do You Do?: How to Network and Talk About Yourself" we will discuss the science of schmoozing, and help you develop a networking plan that is dynamic, authentic, and multidimensional. You will practice deploying your plan to build genuine conversations that create a network you'll be excited about!